FLORIDA CLAIMS 2010 SEC CHAMPIONSHIP

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. - The No. 4 University of Florida gymnastics team (15-2, 5-1 SEC) claimed the team crown at the 30th edition of the Southeastern Conference Championships held Saturday in front of a Veterans Memorial Arena crowd of 5,628. The title is the seventh for the Gator program and the first since 2007.

The Gators won the meet with a team total of 197.05 while Alabama, the nation's top-ranked team and defending SEC champion team, was runner-up at 196.875. Five-time defending NCAA champion Georgia was third at 196.825, followed by LSU (195.75), Auburn (195.575), Arkansas (195.275) and Kentucky (194.80).

There was no question that this meet was going to be competitive, as five of the nation's current top-10 teams come from the SEC. The Gators drew the preferred rotation in Friday's draw, as they competed in the Olympic rotation. But the Gators' opening event, the vault, was not what the team had hoped for. UF Head Coach Rhonda Faehn liked the way her team put their difficulties behind them when they went to the uneven bars.

And the sticks came. Many of the Gators punctuated their routines with a stuck dismount and Florida finished the meet with the highest bar total of the evening, 49.125. Sophomore All-American Elizabeth Mahlich led the Gators on the event and tied for third overall as she equaled her collegiate-best bar mark of 9.875.

The drama wasn't over for the Gators yet, though. Several Gators turned in stellar balance beam routines Saturday. Senior Courtney Gladys opened the beam set as she turned in her collegiate-best beam mark of 9.90 and freshman Marissa King matched her top beam mark for the second consecutive week with her 9.90. But Liz Green had two falls - the first of her collegiate career on the event- as the Gators' fifth competitor. It was up to fellow freshman Ashanée Dickerson to anchor the Gators' beam set. She responded to the challenge with a mark of 9.925, which tied for second overall in the final beam standings.

2010 SEC Gymnastics Awards Announced

Birmingham, Ala -- The 2010 SEC gymnastics awards were announced following the SEC Gymnastics Championship Saturday night, held at Jacksonville Veterans Memorial Arena in Jacksonville, Fla. LSU's Susan Jackson was named SEC Gymnast of the Year, Ashanée Dickerson of Florida was named SEC Freshman of the Year, Auburn's Kristina Voss was named Scholar-Athlete of the Year and Rhonda Faehn of the SEC Champion Florida Gators shared SEC Coach of the Year honors with Alabama's Sarah Patterson.

Jackson is the third Tiger gymnast to earn SEC Gymnast of the Year honors, following LSU greats April Burkholder and Ashleigh Clare-Kearney. Jackson's 9.90 tied for the vault title, the third career event championship Jackson has won at the SEC meet. She won the 2008 SEC vault title and the 2009 beam title. By winning the vault title, Jackson also earned First Team All-SEC honors for the third consecutive year.

Ashanée Dickerson is the fourth Gator to be named the SEC Freshman of the Year – joining Amanda Castillo (2007), Orley Szmuch (2002) and Betsy Hamm (1998). Dickerson was the highest freshman finisher on all four events and the All-Around at the SEC Championship.

With Voss taking home the Scholar-Athlete of the Year award, the Tigers have now captured three of the five awards in SEC history since the award's inception in 2006. Nicole Bennett was the first Tiger to capture the award. Voss, a senior, holds a 3.93 GPA in chemistry and hopes to attend medical school upon graduating.

Rhonda Faehn shared the SEC Coach of the Year award with Alabama's Sarah Patterson. The honor is the third for Faehn, with all coming since 2006 (2010, 2007, 2006). It marks the fourth time Patterson has been voted the league's top coach and this honor came in a year when Alabama has been the nation's top ranked team for most of the season.

Athletes were nominated by the coaches then voted on during one-ballot procedure at the SEC Championship. Points were awarded on a 5-3-1 scale. Coaches were not permitted to vote for their own athletes. All-SEC teams were based on finish at the SEC Championship. The individual event champions and the top three place finishers in the all-around were named First Team All-SEC, while the event runner-up and next three finishers in the all-around were named to the second team. The top freshman finisher and top three in the all-around were named Freshman All-SEC.

The Crimson Tide will be joined by No. 2 seed Nebraska, No. 3 seed Illinois, host school Kentucky, Central Michigan and Michigan State. The top 18 teams in the nation by regional qualifying score are seeded into the six regional sites. The remaining three teams come from within the region. The top two teams from each regional move on to the NCAA Championships, which will be held April 22-24 in Gainesville, Fla. This will mark Alabama's second visit to Lexington this season. Alabama won its dual meet against the Wildcats on Feb. 26 with a 197.225. The Tide will start the regional on a bye before moving to the floor exercise for its first event. Alabama will then advance to the vault before taking its second bye of the evening. The Tide will then finish the meet with the uneven bars and balance beam. Alabama is also familiar with the majority of its regional opponents. The Tide has seen Kentucky twice this season and faced Central Michigan at last year's NCAA Northeast Regional and Illinois in the preliminaries of the 2009 NCAA Championships. Each regional team will have an individual gymnast from a school that did not advance rotating with it. Western Michigan's Kristine Garbarino will rotate with the Crimson Tide. The top two all-arounders from each regional from a team that is not advancing will also earn a bid to Gainesville.

ARKANSAS Lady Razorbacks
